A review process took place, including seeking WHO due diligence when required, e.g. in the case of the Private Sector applicants. A total of 39 memberships have been approved. There are 15 applications put on hold, either due to missing necessary information or being reviewed by WHO relevant departments. Feedback on those applications will be included in the report of the second quarter of 2015.

Priority areas and geographic distribution

New members have been assigned to relevant constituencies, but the majority pertain to the NGOs constituency.

While the Secretariat receives applications from different regions, during this quarter new members are mostly from Africa and then from the Americas. There are different purposes and priority areas for applicants seeking PMNCH membership. The following are the five main areas of interest among new members, listed in priority order:

- Sexual and reproductive health;
- Maternal and child health;
- Newborn health;
- Education; and
- Youth and adolescent health.

Other priority areas that were mentioned, however not with the same frequency as the above, are: human rights, nutrition, water and sanitation, climate change and environmental health, family planning and preventing child marriage.
